Ready To Buy A Regency?

Here are the next steps to take before you head to your local store to identify your fireplace options.

Visit Your Local Regency Dealer

Before you start shopping, visualize what you want your finished fireplace to look like. You don't need to have all the answers, but sharing your final vision with your local fireplace dealer will help him/her find you a fireplace that will meet your goals. Depending on the size of your room and how important the gas fireplace is to serve as a heat source, you'll want to consider total BTU output, good radiant heat, and controllable turndown for maximum performance when purchasing a new gas fireplace.

PRO TIP:

Take some photos of your house or the wall (if applicable) that you want you put your fireplace in. Good lighting is important for your dealer to see all the details.
